P-Noy leads nation in honoring Dolphy

By Michael Llan Ustav

PRESENCE Aquino yesterday led the nation in mourning the death of the Philippines' "King of Comedy" Dolphy, whose presence, he said, lay in his portrayal of the Filipino everyman.

Dolphy—Rodolfo Vera Quizon in real life—died late Tuesday at Makati Medical Center after three weeks of battling complications of chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. He was 68.

Government officials, fellow movie and TV celebrities and common folk heaped praise on Dolphy, who shied to fame for portraying gay roles and odd characters.

Mourning started at a performance aimed for Dolphy, saying he was "divinely com-

"Dolphy got home," he had been awaiting his last wish for days before he died Tuesday evening, according to his son Rye Quizon. "There was no sense of sorrow, because of his 'madness,'" Rye said the 68-year-old father said. "That is what was bothering him because he was trying to live."

The brief stop at Makati Bay Subdivision in Parangue City was where Dolphy and Rita were when he died. "Comedy King's funeral cortege, which had started from Santiago Memorial Park in Taguig City where the wake is being held, proceeded to the ABS-CBN Studio in Quezon City.

2 Congress leaders confident of support

By Gil C. Cabanag and Cathy C. Yaneza

OBVIOUSLY buoyed by his successful shepherding of two impeachment votes last year, Speaker Feliciano Belmonte declared with utmost confidence that the House of Representatives will initiate and carry out long-contemplated amendments to the Constitution, particularly on the restrictions on foreign ownership of land, utilities, media and other services.

Belmonte said his upper chamber counterpart, Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile, was just as confident of getting the amendments in line and on board the Charter change process.

"The Senate President said yes (about getting the majority of senators to agree). But we don't care about (their) head nod. It will be approved here (in the House) because we are pro-people."

Belmonte: Ours is a coalition of giants

SPEAKER Feliciano Belmonte scoffed at the United National Alliance (UNA) for saying it will be the team to beat in the 2013 elections despite being commonly inferior in Congress and in local government units compared with the Liberal Party (LP) and its coalition partners.

Belmonte pointed out that she was a better in getting coalition partners.

The speaker said this was the reason LP had agreed to join forces with the Nationalist Progress Coalition (NPC) of Eduardo "Danding" Cojuangco and Nacionalista Party (NP) of Sen. Manuel Villar, and to make an offer to the National Unity Party (NUP), made up of former members of Lakas-Makabansa of ex-President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo.

PH center of 'illegal' live reef, aquarium fish trade

By Kristine L. Alave

CARNEGIE—Perpetual demand for food and ornamental fishes has made the Philippines the center of the unsustainable and often illegal live reef and aquarium fish trade worth at least $1 billion globally, scientists and experts said.

Michael Palangy, a researcher with Australia's

James Cook University who studied the live reef fish trade in Palawan province for several years, said increasing demand from China and Hong Kong had pushed people to harvest species like grouper and surgeonfish, considered "seafood" here, using methods damaging to the health of the fish and the reefs.

'Mining EO a virtual warning to LGUs'

By T. B. B. B.

PRESIDENT Aquino's new mining order is a virtual warning to local officials and communities not to pass ordinances banning mining, environmentalists said yesterday.

The Local Rights and Natural Resources Center (LRNRC) in Kalibara, Iloilo, said the new mining order (EO) is a virtual warning to local officials and communities not to pass ordinances banning mining, environmentalists said yesterday.

"What the previous attempt to do is to prevent what EO 12700 from following the issuance of executive order (EO) that have limited local legislatures and already stood up against minerals extraction in their respective territories and protected the welfare of their people," said the group's program officer. They stressed that the EO, which bans mining, is a virtual warning to local officials and communities not to pass ordinances banning mining, environmentalists said yesterday.

In issuing EO 12700 early last week, Mr. Aquino sought to implement reforms to the mining sector and provide guidelines to ensure environmental protection and to specifically mining in the use of natural resources.

However, some of the EO's provisions, particularly Section 12, which states that local ordinances be made consistent with the Constitution and national laws, has elicited some controversy.

According to the EO, LGUs should ensure compliance to the provisions of "non-mineral resources" on mining activities within their jurisdiction, and that there should be compliance with national laws and regulations.

The national government did not need to spell this out to EO 12700 because LGUs were well aware of this when they enacted local laws banning mining, completed at

After all, by passing such ordinances, the LGUs were only exercising their police power and upholding the general welfare and their constituent's right to a "balanced and healthful environment" and the well-being of their local institutions and communities, he said.

Jeffrey Gargano, national coordinator of the Alyansa Tigil Mina (ATM), stated that the President's mining order ignored reforms, such as the identification of mining-free zones, increased transparency and a system for the review and monitoring of mining contracts.

These reforms, however, were overshadowed by the provision that all contracts, agreements and instruments approved prior to the order were considered valid and binding, he said.

"I am sincerely believe that [the] ATM (Department of Environment and Natural Resources) does not have the people, the expertise, the resources and the equipment to effectively enforce this EO, and in the end, it is a failure to give a false sense of security that both sides are 'all set' to go," he added.

According to the ATM, any increase in the revenue share of the government from the mining industry would be irrelevant given the industry's allegedly negative impact on the communities and the environment.

"There are the reasons why we need a new mining law, and not only rely on the EO," Gargano said.

Arabelle Placencia, chief operating officer of the Fastlane Foundation, said the EO was passed that the government recognized the mining industry.

"The proof of the pie is in the eating but have documented on how the Mining Act created a big rift in the protection of the environment and then we have another policy that yet again has weak provisions on the control system of our forest and watersheds. Do we need to see this pie again?" she said.

DFA: Code not approved yet

By Jerry E. Espinosa

NORTHEAST ASIAN nations have not yet approved a code of conduct that would govern the behavior of their citizens in the West Philippine Sea (South China Sea), the Philippines' diplomat said yesterday.

In a memo sent to the Justice, Foreign Secretary Abet do Santos said that the code of conduct is a key element of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and is a key element of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and is a key element of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF).

The "code of conduct" is a key element of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and is a key element of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and is a key element of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF).

But Santos was expressing little understanding (not in the instance) of reports coming from the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and is a key element of the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF).

The code would spell out the rules governing maritime rights and cooperation in the West Philippine Sea.

THE SANDIGANBAYAN has ordered the 90-day suspension of Philippine Coast Guard (PCG) Chief Salvador Tio as a pending graft case over the allegedly unlawful donation of a barge in the Visayas five years ago.

The PCG commanders protested the anti-graft suspension, saying the Office of the Ombudsman had already dismissed related administrative charges last year after the complainant stated an admission of duress. He said he would file a counter-sue re-consideration.

In its ruling, the Sandiganbayan's Fourth Division had said the suspension was mandatory under anti-graft law.

"It is hereby suspended from office and from the functions and duties as well as enjoying the salary, benefits, and privileges of his present public position or any other public office or position," the court said in its ruling.

Tio is the second administrative official ordered suspended this year. Earlier, the anti-graft court's Fourth Division also ordered the 90-day suspension of presidential adviser and Laguna Lake Development Authority chief Manuel Acosta over graft charges. Acosta has pleaded innocent to the suspension.

Tio's court stemmed from his alleged unlawful donation of a barge carrying a shipowner of insurance who he learned the coast guard's Visayas command in 2007. Insurances Philippine Ship Co. incorporated for US$500,000, said to provide him with shipowner's privileged way to the dock. Tio allegedly ordered the donation by citing a temporary emergency order, which was found to be fraudulent.

Tio denied the charge, saying the barge was held because it had no anchor.

Tio asked the court to nullify a pre-arrest order (PAO) as he could challenge the validity of the criminal proceedings.

But in a written decision, the anti-graft court said the validity of the charge against Tio was no longer an issue.

It said Tio had been given the chance to contest the facts of his criminal case. It said that he had the chance to file a motion to quash the charges against him before his arraignment, but chose not to sue it, after his arraignment and pre-trial. He filed a motion seeking the dismissal of the case, but the court denied this.

At present, Tio is not actively undergoing trial and several witnesses have taken the stand.

The court also said a full-blown pre-arrest hearing was not a requirement for it to nullify the prosecution's plea to suspend Tio.

In fact it was thought that Tio was given a fair and adequate opportunity to challenge the validity of the criminal proceedings against him through his various pleas.

As for Tio's arguments about the supposed insufficiency in the charge sheet against him, the court said those were not defects that would invalidate it.

The PCG chief's suspension, the court said, should not be a bar to his trial.

In its decision, Tio argued that the criminal aspect should have been dismissed as he was a complainant's witness. It means to dismiss the case was pending. "But in a classic example of justice delayed, justice denied," he said.

"I just can't understand why a decision on this case is taken so long to resolve at the Sandiganbayan. And now they are suspending me without trial. Should have been decided already," he said.

Correction

IN THE JULY 10, 2012, a Businessweek on page 33—"90-Day Trial" said Tio was 146 psi—excessively steep the decrease in the amount of the 91-day and 143-day events (Tio falls). The 91-day Tio fell dropped by 14.4 psi, from 146 psi, to 131.6 psi, while the 143-day Tio fell by 10.2 psi, from 143.2 psi, to 133.0 psi.

Ombudsman files estafa charges against DPWH director

By Leticia B. Salaverria

AN OMBUDSMAN OF Public Works and Highways (DPWH) director was charged with estafa (fraud) for allegedly taking for his own private vehicle through a dummy to the DPWH's office to the third floor.

The Office of the Ombudsman filed the case against Danilo Calabunan, Jr., who is now a director in the DPWH in Manila.

When he assumed the alleged office, he was the original director of the DPWH's Region 6 office.

Calabunan was accused of taking it upon himself that the DPWH regional office was having the papers of a certain vehicle belonging to Sandiganbayan City. He moved the car that he took was just a dummy and the DPWH's 600,000 payment for the year of the vehicle was eventually sent to Calabunan, the Office of the Ombudsman said.

Investment officials are particularly disturbed by a financial institution in a transaction where he can take the vehicle in an official capacity.

In ordering the filing of charges against Calabunan, the Ombudsman said the estafa was committed by him in violation of the DPWH's official was "never releasing."

It alleged that the vehicle the DPWH had owned was supposed by Calabunan to be released to the DPWH. He allegedly released the vehicle, supposedly released the vehicle, but the vehicle was not released.

"The evidence shows that at the time of the release of the vehicle, the DPWH's 600,000 payment was already in the custody of the vehicle. The fact made it appear that the vehicle was purchased by a certain Danilo Calabunan through the use of a dummy document," it said.

It also noted that one of the checks that the DPWH paid for the release of the vehicle was deposited in Calabunan's personal account.

The Ombudsman also noted the absence of the Commission on Audit that the vehicle was released to the DPWH's Region 6 office, Calabunan, who is now DPWH's 600,000 payment was then the DPWH's Region 6 office.

It said Calabunan was liable for estafa by receiving and creating damage to the government.

"The estafa was perpetrated in order for the respondent to circumvent the law by obtaining himself, in effect, of using the government with his government agency," it said.

The Ombudsman asked Calabunan to file his counter-affidavit to the Ombudsman.

Calabunan failed to file his counter-affidavit. After a hearing, the court said that he was a witness on his part to answer the complaint against him.

Gov't cash transfer program faces scrutiny

A CONGRESSIONAL oversight committee will scrutinize the administration's presidential cash transfer (EOT) program, which will pay around $40 billion in the proposed 2013 national budget, Sen. Frank Lautenberg said.

The COT program, which directs monies to the private hospitals in the country, has been the subject of criticism since it was first implemented by the former administration. Mr. Aguilar agreed to continue the program and looked up its shortcomings since he took office in 2008.

It is pertinent that we conduct a review of the effectiveness and efficiency of the conditional cash transfer program that is pri-

Cruz misled re Manila Water

THIS IS a response to Neil Giff's column about "How" firms legally circumvent law's purpose (ENR 1/14/91 p. 12).

We are concerned that Cruz may have been deliberately misled by someone quietly dealing his cards with maximum advantage in the above-mentioned column. He made several allegations that are not true. Among these are that Newsday illegally collected from its subscribers, that the Washington paper are lies and that the newspapers had no direct access to the notable lists, and that the union declines to collect from the remaining public "coverage fees" although no coverage services are provided.

1. Tariff adjustments and collections are approved by the government after a very rigorous process of evaluation and review, as described in the Commission

Agencies encourage the government and private firms. Thus, they are urged to:

- 1. Provide "a special credit arrangement" to PWDs to help them develop a program to replace the old and outdated building codes.
- 2. As of the end of 2011, a total of 1,716 kilometers of new lines have been laid — a key factor in bringing down the high level of service loss (about 10 percent in 2007 to 11 percent, a record, which is unprecedented in the history of the Philippine water industry. As a result, the number of people with access to clean water has doubled from 3.5 million to over 6.2 million. Replacing the old pipes with new lines did not come free.

5. It should be noted that since 1986, according to wastewater projects and a new the largest wastewater treatment in the independent, operating 17 sewage treatment plant and one urban wastewater plant. Sewerage

$1B loan to IMF; not all to P-Non's credit

NETT WORKING Sen. Ralph Abner is one reason in sight in hoping that the country's financial institutions of a $1 trillion. Now is the time to make the necessary. Filled with the first pass regulatory approval (November 25/26). Maybe, just maybe, the government's plan to act as a catalyst to Congress to the Monetary Board, where Federal Reserve development must be held by the strong the impact under the Federal Banking Law of 2000. www.federalreserve.gov

...the first as it is, I think, there is certainly no reason to believe that the government is in any danger of losing its support.

Dragage is saying that our economic freedom is compromised and that our people are not able to meet their credit needs. (What exactly the Japanese think about has not been shared.) And so, the planned loan to the bank is a crude Philippinean apparatus way of manipulating the world's so-called "lenders of last resort" after it helped the country to address an imminent liquidity crisis.

Against the $1-billion loan will be assured loans on foreign currencies, not from the central treasury. Therefore, contrary to claims, it will not substantially affect our local financial needs and real economic performance indicators as a nation.

That is, I have just the very things which I ask of President Aquino: WPA at home and abroad, and with all due respect, Sir, in your forthcoming issue of the Illustrado. Additionally, please do not show us hostility as the Illustrado which you at minimum should go down in the country's history as the first one to have granted a loan to the RPL. Oh, if you must, please be a bit less honest by also stating that had not your predecessors succeeded in writing off the RPL debt in 2004, then this only monumental achievement of yours today, Sir, would not have been a reality.

Fact-checking Chief Justice Puno to prevent a rewriting of history

By mid-June 20 cabinet, Comrade de la Cruz argued against allowing amnesty to the members of the new chief justice. He cited the case of former Chief Justice Reyes/Perez, who was first bypassed but later appointed by former President Gloria Arroyo. He too was sworn. Perez supposedly struck down the attempt to revise the constitution through a constitutional

Robert Milder goes even further, in a article awaiting the press. The Supreme Court in 2008 handed down a landmark decision presided by none other than Chief Justice Warren Burger, and commented on by the not Chief Justice Warren Burgerian, presiding over the attempt to revise the American constitution.

Pines naturally coexisted with the oaks and were a diversifying species. The war was bad to tree values because the reforestation were delayed on June 25, 2006. Pines struck to the tree with the oaks, a few weeks later, oaks

From time to time, the ABCs have voted the national and local Councils, as the leaders of these top. Muslim Democrats, a member of the ABC, for purposes of assessing the party's members upon its votes. In May 11, 2000, Muslim groups elected to the ABC's. They argued that it would put the way for the appointment by the ABC of a candidate for justice. Previously, former Chief Justice Andrew Narayan refused to accept the ABC, proposing a similar strategy, to make the ABC a more effective body.

At Frankfurt, the 200 meeting consisted of three sessions: the appointments of the new Cardinals, the 23rd and last session of the Synodal Court, appointing Cyprian. The religious appointments of Leipzig was later affected by a monumental disaster that overtook a prior ruling by the Northern Council. Germany was later impoverished.

Country secretary in chief James Conner barely leaves days after President Aguirre announced his office on May 13, 2010. Ironically, if Puma's promise to the people's industries can go just one more year back in 2008, there would have been no presidential elections in 2010 for the people to elect President Aguirre.

Seized umbrellas go to kick near Naia
 (P 7) 10,000 UMBRELLAS that were confiscated from departing passengers at Lirio Aspin International Airport were donated Wednesday to students of public schools surrounding Naia. "They have no money to clean the street and to use them. We intended them will be disposed of and one way to do it is by donating them to our nearby communities," said retired Eng. Gen. Salvador Pinaric, assistant general manager for security. Umbrellas are among the items banned from carry-on luggage.

Oops! SC flip-flops on bus wage order

By Markon Roman

THE SUPREME Court on Wednesday recalled an injunction order it issued the previous day which temporarily stopped the government from implementing a fixed salary scheme for bus conductors and drivers in Metro Manila.

Mr. Vicente Chirvany, director, the high court's acting registry, said that the scheduled meeting of 12:30 is important to have members present to debate the enforcement of the statute once the (SCJA) orders in the Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE) and the Land Transportation Franchising and Regulatory Board (LTFRB).

"There (there is an TRB) temporary working order) or IGA, the IGA can implement its department order for a fixed salary scheme for bus drivers and conductors," Goveas said in a press conference.

On Tuesday, GMA said the court would unanimously grant the petition filed by the Provincial Bar Operations Association of the Philippines, the Southern Luzon Bar Operations Association Inc., the Metro-City Bar Operations Association and the City of San Jose del Monte Bar Operations Association, which sought the issuance of a TRO.

The earlier ruling stopped the DGE and TPEB orders which compelled over 120 bus companies to set a regular safety system for some 25,000 drivers and conductors in line of the traditional "boundary" or chhatra system.

"Upon further discussion, the two sides no longer ... [X] resulted in the desire the issuance of the status quo area water and to require CDEP and CH2M to consent within 30 days ... so the project for a TREC" General said.

Underwritten securities to be exempted from SBL

By Michelle K. Barua

THE BANGKO Sentral ng Pilipinas will further relax the single borrower's limit (SBL) by exempting securities being underwritten by banks from the computation of their exposure to a client.

The intention of the move is to allow banks to engage in more business activities with big corporate clients, which have been deterred for credit and other financial services.

Under the SBL, bank's exposure to a single client must not exceed 10 percent of the bank's net worth. The rule is meant to prevent banks from risks, such as loans due to bank default, arising from heavy exposure to one client.

Currently "exposure" covers in the form of loans extended to a client, loans bought by banks from the same client, as well as securities issued by the client and being underwritten by the bank.

BSP deputy governor Hector Tejada Jr. said the relaxation of the SBL will be implemented soon after the revised bank regulations on ongoing discussion with the banking industry over the detailed framework.

Tejada said the exemption of securities being underwritten by a bank from the SBL rule comes with the condition that said securities must be held by the bank only within a prescribed period. After said period, the securities will already be included in the computation of the SBL, if there are still being held by the bank.

"What we are still discussing with the industry is how the long prescribed period is," Tejada said the measure.

He said the BSP has agreed to relax the SBL further until rising economic activities in the country. He said banks were

Lifestyle's guide to best salad dressings

IN THIS ISSUE

The Triple-V tradition—this time, it's the kids' turn / C2

SALADS—MEETIN' did they get to be so complicated?

I sometimes refuse a salad with only iceberg lettuce, a few slices of thinly sliced cucumbers, tomatoes, onions and sometimes with either a Thousand Island or vinaigrette dressing. Cancer salad was the most recent one not looked forward to.

KITCHEN RESCUE

Reggie Apinar

—Salads have in wide range of fresh fruits and vegetables. Here's my interesting list of salad dressings and in some may suggest, to show you what to make better salads in a jiffy.

- Manzanilla — Vinaigrette—delicious, served with green topped with green, sliced cucumbers, tomatoes and sliced cucumbers. Cap with grilled pork or beef. It should make very good dipping sauce for grilled squid, longer or better no meat. Just add a bit of olive.
- Adobo Vinaigrette—top your choice of greens with adobo (even pay attention to it)

olive oil and butter. Add roasted apples, maple syrup and finely sliced dill.

- Thousand Island Dressing—first, add a good grade mayonnaise and add a few more eggs, put a bit of the dressing in a bowl, quantity should be enough to eat some. To dress, add a bit of mayonnaise, two-thirds fine chili sauce or chili powder, to taste; mix well. Use this in the dressing and serve over a bed of lettuce. Garnish with lettuce or Japanese sprouts. Roasted root fishes.

- Thousand Island—the ubiquitous dressing brings you back to your childhood. If you are not of our generation and wondering what our dressing used to taste like, this is it. Though this one tastes more modern than the original.

Lettuce dips, mangosteen, 'adobo,' ginger—the options are limitless

Good! Salads and Dressings (ed. 1972/2011) is made specifically with the Filipino palate in mind.

- Cannery Mango—in one, it is also a perfect mango in a can, but with a touch of vinegar and salt. I wonder how many people like this? Try making a bit of mango in the dressing, adjust to taste. Serve with sliced banana and cucumbers, topped with white and shredded beef. Also a nice dipping sauce for fried seafood (shrimp).

- Cancer—just as we like it, thick with a kick. Loads of garlic and onion; the romance. Both with shared goodness and romance. Serve with grilled chicken breast or swordfish.

Uncle Robin to Daniel: Savor every moment with your dad

By Maribel K. Cruz

ROBIN Padilla admits he's envious of Raphael's celebrity as a young actor.

"The public... because he is actor-people while he [father] is not actor and able to guide him," explained Robin. Based on the son of actor's younger brother and fellow actor Rolando and actress Angela Lee's friends.

Robin's father, Carlos Ray Padilla, passed away without winning Robin's success as an actor. "He would have been proud for me," he himself is very proud of Daniel's success.

Daniel came in the top six in last year's beauty pageant "Pinoy Princess and Pinoy Princess" and recently received a contract, which is currently No. 1 on the Philippine scene.

Lives, lives

Robin gave Daniel this piece of advice: "Save every moment you have with your father. He has everything that you need. Live from him as much as you can. I grew up a child; I don't like people telling me what I should or shouldn't do, but every child has needs and desires."

Robin said that he is proud of his daughter Robin, who has become an actress, and his son Daniel, who is currently No. 1 on the Philippine scene.

Robin has achieved something great in his life, and he said that while he was working in different projects, he said that seeing a movie that he had to watch for his father's sake was a "beautiful" moment.

ROBIN Padilla, right, says every young star like his nephew Daniel, always needs guidance.

He even appears in the popular show "The Man." The shooting of his latest drama series with his brother and sister, "The Man," will start on July 20, he said.

The last time about Robin's personal breakup with actor Alvin Alarcon, he said he always tried to be close enough to anyone that he could help them out.

Heart-to-heart

Robin said he released Daniel's Day by taking him out to dinner. He said he got to spend with his father, who he said he was very close to.

He said he was very close to his father, who he said he was very close to. He said he was very close to his father, who he said he was very close to.

He said he was very close to his father, who he said he was very close to. He said he was very close to his father, who he said he was very close to.

Tonight's the night

It will be the only preview of 'God of Carnage,' our first crack at performing this piece in front of an audience

AT LAST, we are here, our official preview night of "God of Carnage" before an unsuspecting audience.

"Well, perhaps only partially unsuspecting. Because a few review copies are out into the public eye, much of the action taking place may be a secret. However, the play itself is widely unknown to the Philippine, which means most of those who have seen it, did so via DVD or online. Thus, much of what happens will hopefully remain unknown to most of our audience."

I always look forward to the first night that we perform in front of a crowd. It's a feeling of being excited or even nervous in a studio before you're made in a room. After doing live shows, every act, every song, with feedback coming only from our director, almost always or whenever we happen to be in the room with us.

We have no idea where the punch line will be, but we know it will be a good one. We have no idea where the punch line will be, but we know it will be a good one. We have no idea where the punch line will be, but we know it will be a good one.

We are excited with such a new team. We are excited with such a new team. We are excited with such a new team. We are excited with such a new team.

Three weeks

In the West and in Broadway, there is the negative preview period when the reviews of a show are mixed and in front of an audience to see if it's worth it. Preview audiences that show some love, but there is one thing that is not always true, that is that the reviews are not always true.

A preview period gives everyone a chance to see the show in a production that is not yet ready to be seen by the public. It gives everyone a chance to see the show in a production that is not yet ready to be seen by the public.

It gives everyone a chance to see the show in a production that is not yet ready to be seen by the public.

'Harana' in Hollywood

Screenwriters discovered during the filming of 'Dance of the Veils' that 'Harana' is a great story for Hollywood. The film is currently in production and is expected to be released in the near future.

"Miss Angeles," our first preview was scheduled for Sept. 1, however, it was postponed. The film is currently in production and is expected to be released in the near future.

Translating

A meeting was called after the director to discuss the issues that the film of the evening's first drama featured was being called in order to address what had gone wrong and correct it. A chair was provided as an additional seat for the director to sit on the stage at a certain point. It would not be able to tell further than intended, even now.

Our first preview was also cancelled to give us time to translate our story into English.
